Dear friend,

This weekend we gathered across Montgomery County and the country to send a clear message: we will not allow kings in America.

Neighbors stood shoulder to shoulder — teachers, federal workers, small business owners, and immigrant families — all united by a shared belief that democracy only works when everyone has a voice.

We came together because we believe in a Maryland that welcomes everyone, no matter where you come from or what language you speak. We believe in a community that lifts each other up, that values service and hard work, and that stands proud in its diversity.

No kings. No dictators. Just us.

That's why our campaign is powered by people, not big donors. We're building a grassroots movement — neighbors talking to neighbors, small contributions adding up to something far greater than any corporate check. Because real change doesn't come from the top down — it comes from a community that believes in each other.

Now, we need to carry that same spirit into the weeks ahead. Let's continue organizing, voting, and making sure our democracy stays in the hands of the people — where it belongs.

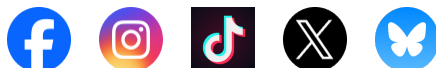

No kings. No dictators. Just us.
